The development of society depends on how much the rights in its direct rights directly. The protection of women's rights is not only an integral part of the rights of human rights, but also in the society economic, political and cultural development. In recent years, illegal and social reforms are being carried out to strengthen many countries. Gender equality and ensuring women's rights leads to the provisions for women, but for the whole society. Gaining the expansion of women, the right to education and the labor market contributes to the economic development. The Buke will analyze the role of women's rights protection in the most development, its impact and the existing problems in the case. It will also be explored by international organizations to defend the rights and the experience of the people of Turals.

Women's rights - the divisions of human rights and ensure that women have equal rights and opportunities for women. Gender equality means equality of legal, economic, social, and political equality of men and women in society. The BMT and other international institutions have received a number of legal acts for gender equality. In particular, the Convention on all forms of discrimination against women is "(CEDAW) is one of the most important international documents for the protection of women's rights. The state independence of the Republic of Uzbekistan has been achieved in the course of the democratic of social life. This is a man standing in the center of the change, as well as for protection of his rights and freedoms. The state is particularly connected to the laws of the rights of women and is still connected with the constitutionalism of the render. In the 58th of the Constitution in the LOCY Provides equality in the administration of society and treatments in the community and treatments to the people, as well as other spheres of public and society. The issue of women's rights and interests and the case of gender equality has been unknown in all countries. After all, the active stability and prosperity of women in all spheres of the women's life said that in this regard, the location is growing, where stability is strengthening. "
